Troubleshooting FAQs

What are the quick fixes if I'm having issues?

- Restart your web browser and only use one open tab. This will fix many issues.
- Make sure your browser is up-to-date with the latest release.
- Temporarily disable anti-virus program .The current anti-virus program installed on your system might be detecting the video or the streaming platform itself as a potential risk. It may be causing problems to a continuous video streaming experience
- Clear browser cache and cookies. The function of cache and cookie data is to maintain a record of users' preferences and sites visited, respectively. If this data has not been cleaned for a long time, it can pile up and eventually slower the functioning of the system and its browse.
- We STRONGLY recommend using Google Chrome as your browser or browser app.

My video is stuttering and stalling!

 Check that your download speed is greater than the recommendations (1.5 Mbps - SD, 4 Mbps - HQ, 8 Mbps - HD).

- If you are on wifi, switch to hard wire connection, or get very close to the wifi router.
- Disconnect all other devices from the network (especially gaming systems and phones).
- If none of the previous suggestions work, restart all of your network devices (modem, router, switch).
- Reduce the video quality. A high-definition video is a treat to the eyes and creates an extraordinary viewing experience. But it does put a heavy load on the internet. You can reduce the video quality by a little bit, and it can resolve many video streaming issues to play it uninterruptedly. Choose 720p rather than the maximum quality of 1080p.
- Update the graphics driver. The Graphics driver is a built-in program that helps to manage the functionality of all the graphic components on the system. To resolve video streaming problems, it is essential to keep the graphics card driver up to date.

Fix video streaming issues specifically on Windows 10

- Check for any pending Windows updates and install them. An up-to-date OS is imperative for faster performance.
- Disable the antivirus and firewall, both built-in and third-party, temporarily and check whether the streaming issues in Windows 10 are eliminated.
- A Hardware Troubleshooter is already present in the Windows operating system and can help you find the root cause behind the video streaming issue.

My audio isn't working or is going in and out!

- This happens when your internet is having issues and the audiocgets "out-of-sync".
- Refreshing your browser sometimes fixes it, but often the browser needs to be restarted COMPLETELY!
- This problem is a known bug with ALL Apple devices when live streaming.
